the Ustav Napravneho Zarizeni (prison)Location

2. "This prison is situated in the northeastern part of Ceska Lipa, east of the railroad line which runs from Ceska Lipa to Rumburk.
3. "The prison buildings occupy an area 300 x 200 meters. On the southern side of the prison area is a building which houses the district court and the District National Committee (ONV). South of the court building the highway to Decin runs in a westerly direction. There are streets east and west of the prison. The prison area is surrounded by a brick wall four meters high. The wall is topped by three rows of barbed wire.

 4. "The common cells are rooms about five by five meters each, with two grated windows. There are six prisoners to a cell. Each cell has a peephole in the door and also in the wall (marked on the diagrams by a hook). The solitary confinement cells are five by two meters, with one grated window. Two or three prisoners are kept in each solitary confinement cell. The first floor [redacted] is used for women; there are no solitary confinement cells in the women's section." 50X1-HUM

5. [redacted] most of the prisoners were kulaks and workers convicted of minor sabotage -- theft or damage to national property in kolkhozes and national enterprises. Prisoners stay in this prison one year or are transferred here from other jails before their release. [redacted] there were 150 male and 50 female prisoners. [redacted] 14 guards. There was one guard on each floor. [redacted] no incidents of prisoner resistance. No prisoner managed to escape.

6. "The food [redacted] was really bad: about 400 gms of bread per day, potato soup for lunch, a small piece of cheese with fish and jam for supper. The prisoners can write and receive one postcard a month. They can receive no visitors while awaiting trial. They cannot receive food packages. They have to walk 30 minutes per day in the prison yard. They cannot attend religious services in the two prison chapels, because those chapels have been turned into workshops." 50X1-HUM

7. "The most dangerous guards were:

(a) Sergeant (fmu) Bidle [redacted]
